OTTAWA (CP)—Defence headquarters disclosed today that 150 Japanese balloons had landed in a Canadian area extending from the Pacific coast to a few miles east of Winnipeg and from the Northwest Territories to the U.S. border.

It also was disclosed that the first balloon landed at Minton, Sask., Jan. 5, 1945.

Britons Involved

OTTAWA (CP)—Indications that Britons were involved in the treason court-martial in England of Pte. John Gordon Galaher of Windsor, Ont., were given here today.

A Defence Headquarters spokesman, explaining the possible reason for the great secrecy surrounding the trial, said "It is not entirely a Canadian trial as there are witnesses from the British Army and other British accused."

600 More Laid Off

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Canadian Car and Foundry Co. officials said today 600 additional employees had been laid off from the company's Fort William plant during the last two days, bringing the total since Friday to 3,600.

Forest Fires Spread

OLYMPIA (AP)—Forest fire conditions in Washington State continued today to be the worst in many years.

State Forester T. S. Goodyear said no hint of when logging camps, closed Tuesday, would reopen was visible in weather reports.

The 3,000-acre Ryderwood fire broke out of bounds in the southwest corner Tuesday night, but fire fighters hoped to regain control today.

Alaskans Protest

SEATTLE (AP)—Civilians are still prohibited from traveling the Alaska Highway although no military reason exists now that the war is over, Donald Macdonald, former member of the Alaska Highway Commission, said here today.

"It seems absurd that after the people of the United States spent $104,000,000 on this highway the army should postpone its use merely because of conventional army rules," he added.

Extend Insurance

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Islay announced today that government war risk insurance policies in force Aug. 17, 1945, have been extended without payment of further premium for a period of three months from their expiry date.

He indicated that before the expiry of the three months' period, the government would announce whether the war risk insurance scheme would be ended or continued for a further period.

Further Yarrows Lay-off Rumored As Yards Wait Word From Ottawa

While rumors swept union offices that further layoffs were impending at Yarrows Ltd. company officials today admitted the situation of government contracts for shipbuilding and repair works was so clouded that they did not wish to hazard a statement concerning their future labor needs.

Meanwhile, Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd. today was hiring 50 welders and platers from the Yarrows Ltd. No. 2 yard, which has given notice to 700 men and women workers effective Friday and Saturday of this week.

No layoffs were in prospect at V.M.D. and company officials believed work would continue on conversion of a ship for amusement purposes in the Pacific war theatre and on construction of China-type coaster vessels. Work today was proceeding on both contracts.

At H.M.C. Dockyard, employers of 1,600 civilian workers, work was still awaited from Ottawa on what work, if any, would be wanted on several frigates brought from the Atlantic since V-E Day. It was rumored other vessels were expected.

NO LAY-OFF AT DOCKYARD
Dockyard authorities saw little possibility of an immediate lay-off although workers who before V-J Day had been employed on afternoon shift have had their shift amalgamated with the dayshift on which a majority of the employees before the end of the Pacific war were employed.

Original plans for tropicalization and other work on frigates at Esquimalt has been held up while work is awaited from Ottawa. Meanwhile Dockyard employees are engaged in other repair work.

While there was no confirmation to a report circulating in labor circles that several frigates would be returned to the east coast without visits or any work being done on them, employees at the dockyard believe a complete clarification of what would be done with the ships would be available within a few days.

K. Peaker said that at a meeting Tuesday night of the Dock and Shipyard Workers' Union here, rumors of further layoffs at Yarrows Ltd. No. 2 yard were discussed but little foundation for the rumors could be secured. Similar rumors were prevalent at the Machinists' Union today.

Meanwhile, F. B. McConnell, Yarrows personnel manager, said the situation was so confused he could not make a statement.

SHOPS TO KEEP STAFFS
Cancellation by Consolidated Engineers Ltd. of $135,000 worth of sub-war contracts to all Victoria machine shops was not expected to result in immediate layoffs, officers of the companies said today.

G. B. Murdie of G. B. Murdie Ltd. machine shop, said that his firm by the end of this week would be working full time on a backlog of orders for logging machinery. Present orders, he said, if no more were forthcoming, would keep a score of skilled employees busy until the year's end.

Mr. Murdie said the company long before the end of the war decided to emphasize logging machinery making when cut-back of war contracts started. Plans were advanced so that cancellation of the Consolidated Engineers' sub-contracts, which were for machinery and fittings for the supply ship being built by V.M.D. would cause no layoffs.

Only the prospect that employees now on war service may return at any time was holding the firm back from taking on further help now.

Charles Walker of the Hafer Machine Co. Ltd. said that firm had lost its proportion of sub-contracts through Consolidated Engineers but there would be no lay-off. The firm is proceeding with civilian orders.

At Ramsay Machine Works Ltd. it was reported that despite cancellation of Consolidated Engineers' sub-contracts, sufficient work would be available for all employees except possibly some fitters. No immediate layoff is planned.

MASS MEETING PLANNED
In co-operation with the Victoria Labor Council the Shipyard General Workers' Federation has called a mass meeting for 7.30 Thursday night at Central Park. Officers of the federation said today the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council had been asked to participate in the meeting. Whether or not this union would accept will be decided tonight.

Garry Culhane, secretary of the federation, said the purpose of the meeting was "to bring to the attention of the people the true situation in regard to layoffs and to initiate a public campaign to prevent any further layoffs."

William A. Stewart, first vice-president of the Shipyard General Workers' Federation, will preside. All shipyard workers and the public are invited, Mr. Culhane said.

Meanwhile, it was reported at the office here of Wartime Shipbuilding that C. L. Dewar of Montreal, president of the organization, who was expected to come here this week for discussions with shipyard management on contracts, had canceled the trip. It was not known definitely, however, whether or not he would come.

In Vancouver it was reported further mass layoffs in shipyards were ended, it having been decided by the Dominion cabinet to continue vessels now on the ways, and all contracts for China type coasters.

Demand Death Sentence For Dutch Traitors

THE HAGUE (AP)—Death sentences were demanded today at the start of the first trials of persons accused of collaborating with the Germans in the Netherlands.

One of the two defendants is accused of betraying Jews. The other is charged with membership in the Dutch Nazi party and with shooting a young farm laborer.

RILES U.S. LAWMEN—Dr. Michael M. Miller, above, drew a storm of protests and denials from members when he declared alcohol is a major factor in the U.S. Congress and diplomatic service. Dr. Miller, neither a prohibitionist nor a teetotaler, said "too much money" and the practices of lobbyists keep many congressmen well oiled, and the State Department is "stuffy with drunks." The department diplomatically had no comment.

Quisling Accused of Causing Murder of Norwegian Patriot

By NED NORDNESS

OSLO (AP)—The state today accused Vidkun Quisling of the murder of Viggo Hansteen, one of the leading Norwegian underground leaders, and the defendant with a sob in his voice denied the charge.

Hansteen, whose widow now is a member of the present Norwegian government, was killed by the Germans in 1941. Prosecutor Annaeus Schjoedt accused Quisling of responsibility, charging that the puppet Premier during the occupation years asked the Germans to get rid of Hansteen because he had led a strike.

"I never asked the Germans to kill Hansteen," Quisling cried. "Only to remove him. He was making things difficult for me."

Earlier in this third day of Quisling's trial on treason and sundry charges, Schjoedt read a letter which he said Quisling wrote to Hitler giving his "great Germanic" plan for placing Norway inside the German state system. Quisling disclaimed the letter, but said he had sought a means of uniting a bloc of nations with Germany.

Quisling asserted Hitler in-

C.P.R. Interested In Extension of P.G.E., Hart Says

Indications that the C.P.R. is definitely interested in the Pacific Great Eastern Railway and its extension were given today by an announcement from Premier John Hart that a joint committee is being set up by the provincial government and the C.P.R. to formulate a comprehensive plan for the development of the P.G.E. and to make a thorough review of all former surveys made.

While in eastern Canada to attend the Dominion-Provincial conference the Premier talked with W. M. Neal, vice-president of the C.P.R. and agreed that a committee of experts, made up of two from the C.P.R., and two from the government with power to employ technical staff be set up to make a thorough review of all surveys "that have already been made relating to the P.G.E. and development of northern resources. These will be correlated with later information that has been gathered."

The plan to be formulated by this committee is to take in the extension of the line and the utilization of all existing lines and equipment, so that it may be used as a basis of further discussion between the C.P.R. and the government, and the possibilities are that the C.P.R. will be interested in purchasing the line.

NO C.N.R. PROPOSAL

Premier Hart intimated that he had conferred with the president of the C.N.R. while he was in the east, but the C.N.R., while professing interest in the development of the north country, at present had no definite proposal to make with respect to the development and extension of the P.G.E.

In the broad plan discussed by Mr. Neal and the premier, Mr. Hart said that he found "as a result of our discussions, the P.G.E. forms an indispensable part of the larger question of development, and that the manner in which it can be made to fit into the transportation system of the northwest and the terms of such an agreement are the first steps to be discussed."

Each step from now on will form part of a vast plan of reconstruction, in which railway transportation will play an important role, the Premier said, pointing out that Mr. Neal held the same views.

Forced to Re-Lay Part of Malahat

A considerable section of the Malahat highway which was opened to traffic a little more than two weeks ago has had to be re-laid, Arthur Dixon, deputy minister of public works, said today.

Traffic was let on to the road too soon, he said, and the asphalt did not have time to cure properly. As a result the material on the road surface showed signs of deterioration and it was necessary to re-mix and relay it.

During the daytime traffic has been diverted via the Shawnigan Lake cut-off, but it is open again today for all traffic, Mr. Dixon said.

Attlee Asks House Ratify Charter

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Attlee called for ratification of the World Security League charter in the House of Commons today, declaring that if persecution of minorities should rise again in the world the organization would "take note of it and take action."

The two Houses of Parliament began separate debates on the covenant designed to outlaw war by punitive steps against aggressors.

Leader Shaken Up In Forced Landing

Military Rule Set Up by Russian Army in Manchuria

MOSCOW (AP)—The Russian army started establishing military administrations in Manchuria today while caging thousands of Japanese from the broken Kwantung Army.

Four Japanese generals surrendered Tuesday. Dispatches said 50,000 troops had been captured on the southern half of Sakhalin Island. The officially announced captive toll in Manchuria itself neared 200,000.

The news agency Tass said Soviet troops "found wide-open opium dens, houses of prostitution and gambling houses in many Manchurian cities."

Tass said isolated sniping continued in the hills around Harbin. The agency said one Japanese woman was captured while she was firing at Russians with one hand and holding a baby in the other.

Nearly all Sakhalin Island was occupied.

$1,087 Cash Snatched

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A parcel containing $1,087 was snatched from Sari Sklash, head cashier of Gray's drygoods store, today as she left the store on her way to the bank. A man, wearing a cap, grabbed the parcel from under Miss Sklash's arm and jumped into a car which drove away.

MacArthur Gives Tokyo Detailed Surrender Terms

MANILA (AP)—Gen. MacArthur announced today (Thursday) that Allied troops will go ashore in the Tokyo area of Japan next Tuesday while he lands with airborne troops at the Atsugi Airdrome, 20 miles southwest of Tokyo.

The directive of the Allied Supreme Commander of the Occupation Forces made no mention of plans for an Allied airborne landing on the Atsugi airfield Sunday, as was stated in the Tokyo radio's broadcast of the occupation schedule Wednesday.

However, Gen. MacArthur's announcement did confirm the Tokyo radio report that Allied air operations would begin over Japan Saturday. The directive said the aircraft would conduct day and night "surveillance flights over Japan and Japanese-controlled areas."

Naval and marine forces will go ashore Tuesday at the Yokosuka naval base, on Outer Tokyo Bay.

The formal Japanese surrender document will be signed Aug. 31 in the Tokyo area, Gen. MacArthur said.

All enemy military, naval and civil aircraft must remain out of the air until the Allies notify

Jap Ships Ordered To Radio Locations

All Japanese ships at sea must report their positions immediately to the nearest United States, British or Soviet radio station, and then proceed to the nearest Allied port or to one specified by the commander-in-chief of the United States fleet.

Japanese or Japanese-controlled submarines everywhere will remain surfaced, flying a black pennant and showing lights. Under instructions the submarines must proceed to certain designated ports in Pacific islands and in the Philippines.

The safety and well-being of all United Nations prisoners of war and internees shall be "scrupulously preserved." It was specified that this includes adequate food, shelter, clothing and medical care until Gen. MacArthur takes charge. It also was specified that local delivery of American-dropped supplies will be insured.

Each camp or place of detention will be marked with 20-foot high letters "P.W." (meaning war prisoners).

Gen. MacArthur's instructions directed the removal of all mines, minefields and other obstacles to "the safe movement by land, sea and air" into Tokyo Bay, effective at 7 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 25 (Japan time).

Gen. MacArthur also directed the re-establishment and maintenance of all navigational aids, continuance of piloting service, and the duties of naval and other personnel concerned with the operations of ports.

Breechlocks will be removed from all coast defence, anti-aircraft guns and artillery within the Tokyo area and they shall be rendered inoperative.

All craft of whatever type in the Tokyo Bay area and approaches are to be disarmed and immobilized, and all weapons in the "area on initial evacuations" are to be rendered inoperative.

Allied Air Patrols Over Japan Ordered

Meanwhile, a Japanese broadcast today revealed that Gen. MacArthur had ordered Allied planes to begin patrolling over the Japanese homeland Saturday, in preparation for the Allied occupation.

The broadcast called attention to the MacArthur order, which it said also ordered all Japanese planes to remain grounded from that time on, by asking permission to use some aircraft in "the prosecution of surrender requirements."

The message which concluded with "thanks," said the planes would be "marked by attaching red pennants," and were needed "for various urgent liaison matters."

Giant Air Armada Assembled to Fly Troops Into Japan
OKINAWA (AP)—The greatest fleet of giant four-engine transport planes ever assembled on one field spread over a two-square-mile area on Okinawa's Kadena airdrome today as the army transport command concentrated airliners from all over the world here to execute an unannounced mission.

(The great concentration presumably is ready to carry Allied occupation troops into Japan. Gen. MacArthur said they would start landing Sunday.)

Scores of the big silver aircraft are parked double along the service aprons and taxi ways of Kadena.

Operations—A large tented structure with sandy floors—is crowded with pilots whose regular missions carried them 160,000 miles daily on air routes all over the world.

They had been called to this mighty island airbase from Cairo to Brisbane and from London to Honolulu and Manila.

Blue Line Offers Case for Fairfield-Gonzales Buses

H. L. Sangster, president of the Veterans' Sightseeing and Transportation Co. Ltd., managing director of Blue Line Transit Co., Tuesday afternoon gave evidence before the Public Utilities Commission on proposals made by his company with regard to a bus service in the Fairfield-Gonzales area.

He outlined the routes traveled by his buses, and said that, roughly within a three-mile limit, the fares on Blue Line buses were five cents. In Nanaimo, where his company also operated, there was a five-cent fare, he said.

He believed it would be profitable to his company to operate the Fairfield-Gonzales route with a five-cent fare. The Blue Line had operated profitably on the Haultain route, he said, which was not as thickly populated as the Fairfield-Gonzales area.

He traced the company's proposals to the city council with respect to operating a bus service in that area.

In answer to his counsel, R. D. Harvey, K.C., who said it had been suggested petitions received by the city were a result of the Blue Line having stirred up the residents, Mr. Sangster answered, "on the contrary, the people stirred us up." Then, he added, the company drew up a petition which was circulated by residents and turned back to the company with 2,000 names. May and Cook Streets, and Fairfield Road, where the streetcar line were, had been avoided, he said.

The B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd., made a bid for the service and the Blue Line had a petition circulated asking that the city council refuse the B.C.E.R. permission to operate and grant that permission to the Blue Line, Mr. Sangster continued.

SAYS SERVICE FASTER
He said he believed the Blue Line proposal was better than that of the B.C.E.R. as his company offered 16 to 20 per cent less fares and a 25 per cent faster service on the proposed Fairfield-Gonzales service.

He proposed a bus terminal at 745 Yates Street. That offer had been made to the city in January, he said. The proposed B.C.E.R. terminal was too far away, he continued, and people would be getting on in the city anyway, not avoiding the congestion which had been suggested.

Cross-examined by A. J. Patton as to his present bus terminal, Mr. Sangster answered it was not a terminal but a terminus where the furthest downtown point was reached by an endless chain of buses.

Mr. Sangster agreed with Mr. Patton he had offered to put in a bus service in the Fairfield-Gonzales area by July 2 and that he could not have put in the terminal by that time. He believed he could have if his January offer had been accepted.

Goes to Chungking

LT. GEN. WAINWRIGHT

CHUNGKING (AP) — Japanese red tape delaying Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright's departure from Manchuria, where he has been a prisoner of war, apparently was cut today by Soviet authorities.

A message from a U.S. airborne humanitarian team at Mukden quoted Russian officers as saying Tuesday night that a heavy bomber was en route to bring Gen. Wainwright to Chungking.

Abbott Appointed Defence Minister; McNaughton Resigns

OTTAWA (CP) — Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, in a message to all ranks of the Canadian Army and the civil staffs of the department he headed as Defence Minister, said today he would have liked to have shared in the solution of repatriation, demobilization and rehabilitation problems, "but circumstances at present otherwise dictate."

The general, whose resignation and replacement by Navy Minister Abbott was announced Tuesday night, reviewed the record of the Canadian Army, and said return of the army from Europe now was proceeding as rapidly as shipping can be obtained.

Mr. Abbott, it was announced Tuesday night, will now administer both the army and navy; eventually all three defence arms — army, navy and air force — will be under one minister with separate deputy ministers.

OUTLOOK IN PACIFIC
"Our force for the Pacific," said Gen. McNaughton, "has been organized and is in process of assembly, but the hope—almost the certainty—is that it will not be required to leave these shores."

(No decision has yet been made on disbanding of Canada's Pacific force of 30,000, and they are marking time at training centres at Debert, N.S.; Barriefield, Ont.; and Camp Shilo, Man. However, the date on which the force was to have left for Camp Breckinridge, Ky., for training has passed, and it is expected the force will be disbanded.)

Gen. McNaughton's message expressed his "deepest thanks to all those, in the army and elsewhere who have worked with me during the last 9½ months in the service of Canada. On occasions there have been grave difficulties and much misunderstanding, which made our task the harder," it said.

Prime Minister King Tuesday announced Gen. McNaughton's retirement as Defence Minister in the first of a series of cabinet shifts and moves to consolidate war-expanded government departments on a peacetime basis.

TO REPEAL ACT
He also announced the National War Services Department Act will be repealed at the coming session of Parliament, and that steps are being taken to distribute the functions of that department, now under Hon. J. J. McCann, to other departments.

Before the end of the week, he said, he proposed to announce appointments to the two existing vacant portfolios — Post Office and National Revenue — as well as the choices for the Speakerships of the House of Commons and the Senate.

Hon. Douglas C. Abbott, K.C., is one of the younger ministers. He fought in the first Great War with the artillery, and wore the two stripes of a bombardier when he took his discharge.

He was born May 29, 1899, at Lennoxville, Que., and graduated from McGill University with a B.C.L. degree.

Geneva Wins Support As Capitol Of United Nations Security Body

LONDON (CP) — Geneva, home of the League of Nations, appears to be winning favor among diplomats in London as a possible site for permanent headquarters of the United Nations' Security Organization.

One Allied official, who declined to be quoted by name, said today the site now depends primarily on Russia. If the Russian agree, the United Nations may move into the white marble palace constructed for the League at Geneva.

Before and during the San Francisco Conference U.S. diplomats strongly objected to any suggestion that Geneva be chosen as headquarters of the new organization. They argued that a psychological implications of the League's failure would hurt the new agency's prestige in the United States.

Since the overwhelming Senate vote on ratification of the United Nations charter, however, it is understood Washington's opposition is waning.

Chinese diplomats in London said they favored San Francisco. They probably could win support from Australia, New Zealand and many Latin-American countries. However, there is every indication the site will be picked by Big Five negotiations, possibly during a council of foreign ministers scheduled to meet soon in London.

There are two main difficulties barring the road to Geneva at the moment. Switzerland has never established diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia and, as a neutral, Switzerland is not yet a member of the United Nations.

Prediction of Facial Features Made Possible By X-Raying Babies

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
CHICAGO (AP) — The facial likeness that a four-day-old baby will have when he grows up can be predicted by X-ray studies of head growth at the University of Illinois College of Dentistry. The X-rays have shown that the main proportions of the skeleton framework of the human head and face present at birth remain virtually unchanged throughout life.

In fact, if growth rates could be predicted, it is possible that after an examination of such X-rays an artist would draw a fairly reliable sketch of the future citizen's face as it would be when he became a voter.

These studies of the head bones are made under the direction of Dr. Allan Brodie, dean of the college of dentistry and professor of orthodontia. The X-ray techniques which he employs were developed by Dr. B. H. Broadbent, director of the Bolton study at Western Reserve University, Cleveland.

15 YEARS OF STUDY
At Illinois the study covers the last 15 years and the heads of the same children have been X-rayed periodically during that time. Adult heads also have been studied. The Bolton records started with children of three months of age and recently the Illinois group has finished a series of 135 newborn whose head developments were X-rayed 20 minutes after birth and every 48 hours thereafter until the infant left the hospital.

If the length of a four-day-old baby's nose is 43 per cent of the distance from bridge of nose to tip of chin, that nose length will still be 43 per cent at age 65 or at any other time. The variation is not more than 2 per cent.

In the same manner, the size of bumps on a head at birth remain in the same proportion throughout the life as do the contours and positions of all the features which are fixed by bones. Anthropologists and others have taught that marked head changes take place throughout growth, but X-rays of various individuals show this is not the case. In fact, these studies challenge a number of supposed facts of growth printed in medical textbooks.

Neither do the facial bones of adults behave in the manner tradition says they do. It always has been supposed that when a person lost all his teeth the lips and cheeks fell inward and the line of his chin rose. The lips and cheeks do not fall but the jaw line does not change its position or shape.

BONE ABSORBED
The muscles attached to the jaw fix and hold the position of the chin. Dramatic proof of this appeared in the X-ray studies. False teeth sometimes have been made a bit high in order to support the jaw line. Such jaws, after a time, were found to have returned to their original positions. The extra height of the teeth remained unchanged although some of the jawbone had been absorbed to permit the jaw line to return to its lifelong position. This bone had actually narrowed itself to get back to its accustomed level.

More Signs of Lifting U.S. Meat Ration
WASHINGTON (AP) — Signs of an early end to meat rationing in the United States are multiplying.

The Office of Price Administration indicated Tuesday night more meat would be available for ration points beginning Sept. 1. Officials of some other agencies were willing to bet that before September is over, the whole meat program will be a thing of the past.

Agriculture Secretary Anderson already has said that if there is a heavy run of cattle to market late this month and next, he believes it will be possible to eliminate rationing in September.

480,000 Killed, Injured, Homeless Toll of First 2 Atomic Bombs

NEW YORK (AP)—The Tokyo radio said today the latest check-up on damage done by the atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki showed 480,000 persons were killed, injured or made homeless in the two Japanese cities.

The broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press, said the bomb which fell on Hiroshima Aug. 6 killed or injured 160,000 persons and left 200,000 homeless. The bomb which hit Nagasaki Aug. 9 left 120,000 casualties, the radio report said.

The broadcast said "furthermore many persons are dying daily from burns sustained during the course of the raids."

"The number of dead is mounting, as many of those who received burns cannot survive their wounds because of the uncertainty of the situation."

The INTERNATIONAL SCENE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst

Foreign Secretary Bevin's pronouncement of policy rounds out the picture of what may be expected from Britain's new Socialist government, and in these early stages it is moving along a line not far "left" of centre, thus confounding those prophets who expected a radical upheaval.

A striking feature of Mr. Bevin's speech in the House of Commons was that it echoed the policies of the late Conservative government under Winston Churchill. Indeed, the Conservative members of parliament not only gave a warm demonstration of approval but former Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden congratulated Mr. Bevin and placed the Conservative seal of approval on the Socialist declaration. There now is further backing for the tradition that Britain's foreign policy remains fundamentally the same no matter what party is in power.

Even more illuminating was Mr. Bevin's stand against "totalitarianism."

Specifically, he said of Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary—all in the Russian sphere of influence—"the governments which have been set up do not in our view represent the majority of the people, and the impression we get from recent developments is that one kind of totalitarianism is being replaced by another."

This tendency of the Socialist government isn't surprising to those who know Britain well. There are comparatively few extreme "leftists," although during the last quarter-century there has been a steady swing towards moderate socialism that finally has resulted in the present government, which comprises representatives of all classes of society.

Accordingly we see the regime under Prime Minister Attlee embarking on a limited program of nationalization, with strong indications that private initiative will be encouraged. In short, there is to be no wholesale change in Britain's economic structure now.

Some members of the party like Prof. Harold Laski, who represents intellectual socialism, may have far-reaching changes in mind, but the rank and file are concerned with the immediate problems of life and aren't shouting at the stars. The government program calls for nationalization of the Bank of England, the coal mines and transportation, but the signs are that this will represent most of the nationalization in the life of the present parliament, which normally would be five years.

Violent Celebration Investigated

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Six women were raped and 1,059 persons treated for injuries during the three-night San Francisco peace riots last week, District Attorney Edmund G. Brown told a grand jury Tuesday night.

The jury voted to continue with the fact-finding inquiry after Mr. Brown had reported on investigations of the wild celebration in which mobs broke plate glass windows valued at more than $25,000.

The district attorney did not mention accidents in which 12 persons lost their lives.

BERN (AP)—A Russian internee was killed and three were wounded at Aigle, in an altercation which involved 20 Russian internees and a Swiss bartender, police reported today.

A Swiss policeman was cut on the head by a bottle. The report said the bartender defended himself with two pistols.

An inter-Allied commission has been established to investigate a series of clashes between Russian internees and the Swiss.

FOREIGN POLICY CONTINUITY

THOSE IN OTHER LANDS WHO HAD doubted the desire or capacity of the new government at Westminster to maintain the normal level and continuity of Britain's foreign policy will have noted with a good deal of satisfaction the comprehensive pronouncement with which Mr. Ernest Bevin, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, regaled the House of Commons on Monday. Even the bitterest critics of the political philosophy of which Mr. Attlee and his ministers are the exponents have found common ground from which to tender their felicitations to the man who was Mr. Churchill's Minister of Labor for more than five years. The speech will be "read throughout the world with relief," says the Tory Daily Mail, while the Conservative Daily Sketch evidently finds it easy to describe it as "vigorous and sagacious."

As we observed in these columns the other day—when Professor Harold Laski, chairman of the Labor Party's national executive, presumed to exhort the French electors to follow Britain's political lead—Mr. Bevin is the last member of the Attlee cabinet to permit himself to be "pushed around" by any economist-cum-statesman who is neither a member of the House of Commons nor a superior minister of the Crown. And if the Communist Daily Worker, alone in its opposition to the tone and content of the Foreign Secretary's speech, unwittingly administered a left-handed rebuff to Dr. Laski, it did so in its declaration that the "policy-continuity speech disturbs Labor." No member of the new ministry understands the British workingman better or is trusted by the great majority of workers more than the same Mr. Bevin who has won such wholehearted commendation by his first full-dress foreign policy survey.

Foremost and most straightforward among the Foreign Secretary's statements was that which placed him on record as saying that he saw no advantage in exchanging one totalitarian government for another—with special reference to the conditions existing in Bulgaria, Hungary and Romania, where the prospect of "free and untrammelled elections" appeared to be very slim indeed. As far as Bulgaria is concerned, where polling will take place on August 26, Mr. Bevin's remarks coincide with those of President Truman and Secretary of State Byrnes, neither of whom regards the present government of that Balkan nation as anywhere near representative of the democratic elements of the people. Under such conditions, moreover, Washington's official edict precludes the possibility of the United States or Britain negotiating a peace treaty with this former Axis satellite state.

In other words, Mr. Bevin for Britain and Mr. Truman for the United States have pinned the foreign policies of their respective countries firmly to the standard of the United Nations' Charter; and the test of good faith will be in the adherence to the principles enunciated by that memorable document. Consequently, the peace treaties which have yet to be drawn up and which, by the dictum of the Potsdam Declaration were left as the particular job of the United Nations, depend irrevocably on the observance of the main points agreed upon at San Francisco.

And once those principles abdicate in favor of certain ideologies paraded as panaceas by the enthusiastic disciples of theory—as opposed to the unpleasant starkness of reality—the whole structure of unity among the "Big Five" is instantly threatened. It is fitting and altogether to the good, however, that it was Mr. Bevin, and not Mr. Eden, who spoke so plainly: for had the former Foreign Secretary used the same words as his successor, he would have been accused of violating every doctrine in the decalogue of democracy.

None will challenge the fact that, with the exception of Czechoslovakia, genuine democracy as we understand the term has no foothold east of the Rhine. Nor will political conditions improve if sophistry shall be given full rein. All the peoples of the world, even many in enemy countries, put much store in the Four Freedoms. Thus inherent in the peace which has now arrived surely are the incentive and the means to translate their promise into performance. To argue that the three Balkan states referred to by Mr. Bevin are not ready for democracy is far from sound. And one hesitates to think that Mr. Bevin, Mr. Truman and Mr. Molotov did not canvass the Balkan election problems at Potsdam.

GENERAL MCNAUGHTON

WHEN THE LASH OF PARTIZAN criticism loses its sting entirely and the manufactured arguments of the hussings are accepted at their true value, the role that Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton played in the magnificent contribution Canada's men-at-arms made to victory will become more clearly defined. He goes into retirement today with the commendation of the Prime Minister ringing in his ears. There will be satisfaction in that tribute to the man on whom the vagaries of political fortune have played their tricks.

It was a foregone conclusion that Gen. McNaughton would withdraw from ministerial office in view of his defeat at the Grey North by-election and his failure to gain a seat in the general election. Yet it is not too much to say that Canada has benefited from his vast military knowledge while hostilities were in progress. In its purely personal aspects, his has been a life of triumph and disaster. A scientist and a soldier, he gained the heights as the man to whom was entrusted the organization of Canada's forces for battle. In the political field he suffered the winds of adversity and hostility arising from a manpower policy which, just or unjust, brought forth violent and unfair criticism which focussed its venom upon him. Yet, despite the hue and cry of his opponents, he played his part, as the chief officer for war, in the attainment of new greatness for Canada's fighting forces. If the fruits of his labors are to be seen in the achievements of the Canadian army, Gen. McNaughton can well afford to ignore the vilification to which he was subjected by his more rabid and unscrupulous ill-wishers.

It is natural that, with the war finished, Cabinet reorganization should replace him with an elected representative and that the forces should be consolidated again under the Defence Department. And fair-minded people will hope the minister who has assumed Gen. McNaughton's duties, Hon. Douglas Abbott, will escape the type of political mud-slinging for which his predecessor was the target.

REALISTIC MR. ATTLEE

THOSE STALWARTS OF THE CO-OPERATIVE Commonwealth Federation in British Columbia who are painting verbal pictures of the early arrival of the millennium in Britain under the aegis of the new Labor government should note what Mr. Attlee thinks about industrial readjustment, as it affects the working population. Nor does the Prime Minister beat about the bush; he announced last Friday that "it would be absolute madness at the present time to abandon those financial and economic controls which served us so well during the war," that "in the next eight weeks well over 1,000,000 workers will be released from munitions," and that with the rapid demobilization of servicemen "temporary unemployment is inevitable."

Not even the most rabid supporter of the Labor Party in Great Britain, of course, expected miracles to be performed on the morrow of a victory at the polls. Mr. Attlee himself has never claimed possession of the key that would open the door to a plan of reconversion and reconstruction that would eliminate the prospect of "temporary" unemployment. What some C.C.F. speakers in this province recently have implied, however, is that the Labor administration at Westminster is about to show the world what is meant by a "planned economy." The majority of the people of this province—including many opponents of the Coalition government—will smile as they note how some Socialists regard Mr. Winch as British Columbia's Attlee.

As a matter of fact, there is every indication that Canada is much further advanced in her plans for reconversion and economic and industrial readjustment than is either Great Britain, the United States, Australia or New Zealand—the operations of Labor governments in the two southern Dominions notwithstanding. The reason is not far to seek; three years ago the King government's Rehabilitation and Reconstruction Committee began its hearings—as did a similar non-partisan body under the auspices of the Coalition administration in British Columbia—in anticipation of the impact of the war's aftermath. Information obtained and utilized, in the formation of policy explains the contrast in the domestic outlook with that which followed the first Great War.

GREAT IN ACHIEVEMENT

IN THE GIGANTIC ROAR FROM THE explosion of the atomic bombs and the clash of Russian arms in the north, the noise of battle on other fronts has sounded but lightly in the ears of the world during recent weeks. Today's dispatches, however, expressing the conviction that Japanese envoys would meet representatives of Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten at Rangoon within 24 hours to arrange surrender of Japanese forces in southeast Asia, lend emphasis again to the vastness of the operations on the India-Burma front. That theatre has not claimed the attention of the spectators events closer to the Nipponese homeland, but when historians analyze the important phases of the defeat of the Axis, the pages they write on the southeast Asia campaign will be shining examples of courage, leadership and loyalty. The forces in that region which achieved triumphs over Japan's greatest land army in the field will not be the forgotten men of this conflict.

NOTES

To make hateful people, take the nicest people you know; add a boom and fresh lust for money; mix with haste.

The real question is this: Where many are denied the ballot, as unfit to vote, do those qualified to vote elect superior men?

The aim of the earliest Greek philosophers was to discover some type of being, or principle of matter, to which all forms of physical existence might be reduced. The aim of the latest scientific developers was to discover some principle of matter by which all forms of physical existence might be reduced. The atomic bomb is the result. Peace, perfect peace!

Petticoat Lane

By FRANK TILLEY

VAGUE MEMORIES of prewar Petticoat Lane had not prepared me for the size and vitality of London's biggest remaining street market. It seemed on this sunny Sunday morning that the whole of the East End was pouring into the market. It was rather like going to a football match on a strange ground. You made sure you reached the nearest station—in this case Aldgate East—and then followed the crowd. There was no need to ask anybody the way.

The market begins under the bridge in Brick Lane and spills over all the streets around a triangle made up of Brick Lane, Bethnal Green Road, and Slater Street, linking up along one straggling corner with Middlesex Street. There is no such thoroughfare as Petticoat Lane. "It's just a slang name," said a policeman, but he couldn't tell me how it had come about; nor could anybody else I asked about it.

Quite early the streets were full of people. They swarmed round the stalls and drifted slowly along the middle of the streets, which were full of chatter and altercation, the cries of the hawkers, the clink of coppers, knocked out of somebody's hand into the roadway.

THE STALLS WERE loaded with the oddest assortment of goods. Insides of clocks, odd shoes, cycle pedals, moth balls ("Five on a string; hang 'em in your wardrobe and laugh at the 'em"), battered books and soiled magazines, pots and pans, rheumatism ointment.

The stalls themselves were an odd assortment. Packing cases, boards on trestles, handcars, wheelbarrows, sheets of cardboard spread out on the pavement, the narrow top of walls built round bomb-damaged areas. The hawkers are quieter than they used to be before the war. Partly because many of them are women, standing in for husbands and sons, partly because many of them know they will sell out their goods anyway, because they are in short supply—so why shout about it?

BUT MANY OF THEM still trot out their line of patter and exchange cracks with the passersby. "Spectacle cases, two bob each. Hurry, the Masked Hawker, Little Billy Fairplay, all the way from Holloway. No, sir, we won't take one and sixpence, not with a war to pay for."

"I'm only doing this for fun," says one man, selling clocks. "There's no money in it—this is my life's work." At one neglected stall piled with bottles and notices—Chicken Tonic, Cooling Powders, Horse Oil. Everything for the Animal and the Pet—the proprietor shouts: "Ask me anything you want. I'm pleased to tell you," and again, ironically: "Is anybody interested in the price of anything?"

If there is any black market stuff to be obtained we were unable to find it. At stalls selling sheets, blankets, suits, shoes, tablecloths and towels, stallholders were clipping away at coupon books with sharp scissors. A soldier was helping his mother behind a handcart piled with utility silk stockings. He was quite busy and told me that he would sell the lot by lunch time. "But you should have seen us before the war," he said, "this is small-time stuff to prewar days."

STALLS SELLING vegetables and fish were also doing a roaring trade. Winkles, 6d a half pint, were in heavy demand. So were Leigh-on-Sea shrimps, 1s 8d a pint, and Southend cockles, 8d a half pint. The price of crabs depended on how well you bargained: there was not much sale for them. Little queues formed at all the places where choccies could be obtained—3d, 4d and 6d. At a guess I should say that half the people wandering about the market were sucking ices of some sort. I should say that meant upwards of five thousand ices.

Some of the hawkers displayed all the old tricks of the trade. "Combs, sixpence each" they would say, and when the customers picked up the comb and produced the money: "One and six, I said. Did you think I said sixpence. Now I ask you lady, a comb for sixpence—what d'you think we fought the war for. One and six, my price," and few people failed to produce the full amount. In any case, by current rates, one and six is cheap for a good comb.

Much of the selling is done by auction, especially by the people selling fowl. They stand up on handcars, a big crowd pressed around them, holding flapping birds aloft and poking knowingly at their intimate parts. "Twenty-one, shillings, twenty-two, shillings, twenty-three—lady over there." Or, conversely, on the Dutch auction principle: "Anybody offer me twenty-seven shillings? Twenty-six? Five? Four? Twenty-four shilling I'm bid—gent over there."

BUT MOST OF THE birds are sold from the pavement by direct bargain. "Laying ducks a pound a pair, a pound a pair. No, lady, I will not take seventeen shillings, I will not drop a penny. All right then, nineteen bob, and let my wife and kids starve. Why should you care? This isn't trading, it's murder." Fat women tip the birds upside down and handle them expertly, and argue: "Garn, y' thief. A quid for this? Start at five bob and I'll think about it." The birds squawk and flap about and sometimes free themselves, so that the crowd is in a continual scuffle. One man has brought 40 pairs of ducks to market and reckons he will sell them all by mid-day. Another has scores of boxes of squealing chicks—ten shillings for 12 chicks in a cardboard box. "They'll lay on your table at Christmas time," he shouts. "Buy your Christmas dinner now." The total number of birds sold here, each Sunday morning, must add up to thousands.

Colonial Advance By Education

REPORTS were issued recently from the Colonial Office by three committees which have been working on plans to develop in the British Colonies opportunities for higher education.

The first report is by a general commission appointed in 1943, and presided over by Mr. Justice Asquith. It urges the establishment wherever possible of a single university for the colony concerned, rather than a federation of isolated colleges. The experience of university bodies in Britain has been carefully considered in the light of colonial conditions. The commission recommends that the universities should be residential, to foster a spirit of unity in communities divided by racial or sectional differences. It emphasizes also that colonial universities must be centres for the training of students in professions needed for the development and welfare of their country; that they should provide a broad educational training, and should also be research centres.

To provide adequate staff, the commission recommends the establishment of a British inter-university council for higher education in the colonies, with representatives from each of the British and colonial universities and university colleges. Special experts may also be co-opted. The British members would pay regular visits to the colonial universities, and the council would be represented on their governing bodies.

FULL-FLEDGED, self-governing universities already exist in Malta and Ceylon, and in Hong-kong before the war. The aim now is to set up similar institutions in Malaya after liberation; in East Africa, West Africa and the West Indies. As the first step, the commission recommends that the existing higher colleges should be used. Buildings, staff and equipment should be brought to a higher standard. During the transition period the students should work (as many already do) for a London University external degree, under special arrangements adapted to colonial needs, but without a lowering of standards. As soon as possible the colleges will confer their own degrees. The inter-university council will decide when this time has arrived.

The other two reports deal with higher education in two areas; the West Indies and West Africa.

A commission under Sir James Irvine visited the West Indies in 1944 and carried out a full investigation. They recommend the foundation of a university college in Jamaica, a proposal endorsed by the Asquith Commission. This college will form the nucleus of a university for the whole British Caribbean area.

THE OTHER commission, under Walter Elliott, spent three months in West Africa, after taking preliminary evidence in London. They propose three university colleges in British West Africa, with professional schools serving the whole of West Africa attached to two of them. Two colleges already exist; Achimota College in the Gold Coast, to be expanded, and Fourah Bay, in Sierra Leone, to be reorganized on a new site, and to serve Gambia as well. For Nigeria a new college is to be founded at Ibadan, the biggest city in West Africa, with a population of 390,000. A minority of the committee recommended that the proposed Ibadan College should ultimately become a unitary university for the West African territories as a whole.

By these educational plans it is hoped to give maximum effect to all the development and welfare schemes in the colonies, for which already a total of over $96,000,000 has been allotted from the British Exchequer. All political parties recognize that without a properly-developed system of higher education in the colonies, colonial development and welfare cannot advance at more than a snail's pace. The colonial centres of higher education will provide men and women with the professional qualifications required, for the economic and social development of the colonies, and from them will come men and women with high standards of public service and the capacity for leadership, to guide the colonies on the path of self-government.

Civil life has its booby traps too. Be careful. Be on your guard against plausible strangers with plans for spending your hard earned gratuity, your Victory Bonds, your savings. Be on your guard against "friendly" tips on sure things, and schemes to double your money. And if you decide to embark on some new enterprise of your own get all the facts and weigh them—in advance.

Talk your plans over with someone you trust and whose business judgment you respect. If you think we can help, call on the manager of any branch. He will feel privileged to help you in any way he can.

Carpenters Vote Funds for Appeal

The Brotherhood of Carpenters, Local 1598, has decided to give financial support to the appeal by the unions of Dominion Election Act charge against Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd. and Falconer Marine Industries Ltd. The charges, heard originally in the city police court, were dismissed by Magistrate H. C. Hall. Notice of appeal was filed this week in county court here. The purpose of the suit is to secure for shipyard workers here payment for time they took of June 11 to vote. In contravention to the managements' orders but responding to their unions' suggestions the men laid down their tools at 2:30 the afternoon of June 11 to vote.

The Carpenters' Union has also instructed delegates to the Trades and Labor Council to support the proposals of the Seafarers' International Union and the International Longshoremen's Union that Yarrows Ltd. No. 2 yard at Esquimalt be developed with docking facilities for ocean-going vessels so that Victoria's trade with the Orient could be expanded in postwar years.

The Carpenters' Union will also donate funds to an election committee to arrange for labor candidates to contest municipal elections this fall.

Need Guidance in Postwar Period

Need of fraternal guidance from the church, schools and service clubs for the postwar period was expressed by Roy Perry, former president of the Portland, Ore., Kiwanis Club, in an address before the Victoria Kiwanis Club, at the Empress Hotel, Tuesday.

Speaking on "Where Do We Go From Here," Mr. Perry, who is a druggist, likened his thoughts to the three parts of a prescription: Superscription, Inscription and signature in dealing with the past, present and future.

He paid tribute to the pioneers, whose strength and stamina would provide an inspiration to carry the present generation through the aftermath of the war. Then, turning to the present, he said that before 1941 the younger folk were softening, but he added, "I have swallowed those words, because our boys did take an about-face." The fellows have something we should be able to stand on in the postwar period.

Introduced by Walter Walker, and thanked by Magistrate H. C. Hall, Mr. Perry listed three possible troublemakers in the United States. First was the labor problem, "a coddle group by vote buying," which caused them to get out of line. Racial hatred and religious intolerance also had to be met, and lastly the "terrific" tax burden.

Union Seeks Contract With B.C. Coast Service

Negotiations were resumed today between the Seafarers' International Union and the B.C. Coast Service of the C.P.R. for a union contract.

The negotiations were first opened last week some time after the Seafarers' International was declared by the federal government labor department as the bargaining agent for 350 deck and engineroom employees who do not carry licenses.

According to Dave Joyce, secretary of the union here, the union in its proposed contract submitted to Capt. Oliver Williams, manager of the B.C. Coast Service, is asking for higher pay rates, a higher rate for overtime, improved working and living standards and a closed shop. It is expected the negotiations may take some time.

The Seafarers' International Union now represents workers employed by the C.P.R., C.N.R. and Union Steamships on this coast.

Childless Parents May Now Have Children

Thousands of couples who have been denied the privilege of having a child of their own will be happy to learn a new medical discovery has been made. It is called the RH Chemical.

Many couples cannot have children because the blood of the wife and husband are directly opposite. A recent test of seven women showing a RH negative blood who were married to RH positive blood men showed that while there were 36 pregnancies only 12 children were born, and 24 were miscarriages or stillborn.

If you and your husband are anxious to have a child of your own read page 17 in the September issue of the Woman's Home Companion now on sale at all magazine dealers.

Nuptials Held For Joan Straith

Joan Margaret, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. P. L. Straith, was married to Dr. Donald Andrew Hewitt, son of Mrs. Andrew P. Hewitt and the late Andrew Hewitt of Orillia, Ont., Saturday, Aug. 18, in St. George's United Church, Courtenay, V.I. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Peter Henderson of Vancouver. L. Reynolds, organist, played the wedding march as the bride walked down the church aisle, escorted by her father. She wore a white marquisette gown, styled with bouffant skirt, slight train, pearl embroidered bodice and sweetheart neckline. A fingertip veil of illusion net, held with a bandeau of white gardenias, and a bouquet of gardenias and swainsona completed her ensemble.

Mrs. Judd Whittall was matron of honor, Miss Helen Straith, the bride's sister, maid of honor, and Miss Betty Brown of Comox, the bridesmaid. All wore apple green net frocks with bouffant skirts, large matching crownless hats and carried sheafs of yellow daisies.

Surg.-Lt. Sid Arber acted as best man, while Flt. Lt. B. Cowan and Flt. Lt. B. McKay were ushers. During the signing of the register, Mrs. E. Benson sang "Still as the Night."

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents after the ceremony.

For a honeymoon at Banff, Alta., the bride traveled in a taupe gabardine suit, wheat-colored topcoat with fox collar and brown accessories. On their return, the young couple will live at the Tweedsmuir Apartments here.

Louise Eastman Wed In Colwood Church

At St. John's Church, Colwood, Monday evening, the marriage was solemnized of Miss A. Louise Eastman, elder daughter of Mrs. S. W. Eastman and the late S. W. Eastman of 142 St. Lawrence Street, Victoria, and Mr. Frederick J. Willway, eldest son of the late Dr. F. W. Willway of London, Eng. Rev. G. H. Greenhalgh officiated.

The bride wore a gold wool two-piece ensemble, chocolate brown hat and brown accessories. Mr. and Mrs. C. Arnold Ramsfield were the attendants. Mrs. F. Vincent Rush played the wedding music.

A reception was held following the ceremony for immediate relatives, at the home of Mrs. J. H. Downard, Sooke Road, where a toast to the bride was proposed by J. H. Downard. The groom gave the response.

After a honeymoon at Cortez Island, Mr. and Mrs. Willway will reside at Glen Lake. The bride was primary teacher and the groom is the principal of Happy Valley School.

W.D.'s Get Chance To See England

TORQUAY, Eng. (CP)—Canadian girls in air force blue are taking one last look at the green loveliness of England from the repatriation depot here before starting on their trip home to Canada.

Several hundred have returned already, but many hundreds still in Britain have two things to do—finish their job and see as much of the British Isles as they can.

Occasionally it is necessary for drafts of W.D.'s to wait several weeks at the depot until shipping space is available. Many have made use of the last-minute opportunity to see London, Oxford, Cambridge, the Isle of Wight, Exeter and Land's End, all from one to five hours' traveling time from the depot.

For those who are travel-weary, there is swimming at famous Channel beaches nearby and other sports close to the depot.

When weather interferes with this type of relaxation, the depot offers table tennis, badminton, bingo and a craft shop, in which airwomen, along with their airmen, make souvenirs out of perspex obtained from crashed and damaged aircraft.

Sugar Savers

Why not put away pie and dessert fruits without sugar, to save your canning ration for your family's favorite jam or preserves.

Good cooks recommend sugarless canning for blackberries and juicy plums. Here is their method:

Wash the fruit. Crush part of it in the bottom of a preserving kettle. Add the remaining fruit and heat for a few minutes until the juices flow. It is better if this can be done without the addition of water, but a little may be used if it necessary to prevent scorching.

Pack the fruit solidly in the sealers, crushing it down so it is completely covered with juice. Then process pint sealers 15 minutes in the boiling water bath, or 25 minutes in the oven. For quarts allow 30 minutes in boiling water, or 30 minutes in the oven with the thermostat control set at 275 degrees Fahrenheit.

Speed Champ Weds

LONDON (CP)—Marriage of Sir Malcolm Campbell, 60-year-old speed driver, was announced today.

The bride of a London ceremony last week was Mrs. Betty Miskery of London. It was the second marriage for Sir Malcolm, who obtained a divorce in 1940. Sir Malcolm's 1935 mark of 301.129 miles per hour in the "Bluebird" at Daytona Beach stood four years before John Cobb smashed it with a speed of 368.85. He still holds the water speed record of 141.74 M.P.H.

Plans are complete and registrations open for the Y.M.C.A. So-Ed fall week-end at Camp Thunderbird, Glinz Lake, Sept. 1 to 3. Camp activities will consist of swimming, dancing, hiking, boating, picnics, baseball and chapel services. Transportation will leave the "Y" Sept. 1 at 2:30 and 6:30.

Nylon Stockings By Christmas

WASHINGTON (AP)—American women can buy nylon stockings by late November, or any way by Christmas, the War Production Board indicated today.

W.P.B. has revoked an order which controlled production and distribution of nylon and rayon. This leaves the manufacturer of nylon hose blocked only by an order issued at the beginning of the war which prohibits the use of nylon in making women's hosiery.

But W.P.B. said it has started action to amend the conservation order so that nylon may be woven into the stockings that every woman wants.

Clothing Ration In Britain Cut

LONDON (Reuter)—Sir Stafford Cripps, President of the Board of Trade, announced Tuesday a cut in Britain's already-skinny clothes ration.

For the eight-month period from Sept. 1 to April 30, 1946, the allowance will be 24 coupons, he said.

From Aug. 1, 1944, until the end of this month, a period of 13 months, Britons were allowed 48 coupons. Sir Stafford said, however, "this should be the last period of acute privation." He explained the drastic rationing as necessitated by a manpower shortage in the cotton industry.

On the 24-point ration, a woman can buy one pair of shoes (7 points), one wool dress (11 points) and two pairs of hose (3 points a pair) in eight months. To get a new suit (26 points) a man must have saved two coupons from the last ration period, and must forego any other new clothing.

Ten parking fines of $2.50 each were imposed in city police court Tuesday. One motorist was fined $15 for exceeding the speed limit.

Wives Return To Canada Soon

OTTAWA (CP)—Regulations speeding the return to Canada of Canadian Women's Army Corps girls and army nurses now serving overseas, whose husbands have returned from overseas duty were announced today by defence headquarters.

The regulations provide that these CWacs and nursing sisters will, on request, be posted to a home-war establishment in Canada regardless of their length of overseas service.

Where husband and wife are serving overseas in different theatres, the wife's return will coincide as nearly as possible to that of her husband.

On display in the lobby of the Y.M.C.A. are six of the trophies won by the "Y" swimming team under Coach Archie McKinnon at the Kelowna Regatta Aug. 1 and 2 when the squad garnered 21 first, 14 second and 14 third places.

Try Them Stuffed

Vivid squashes, succulent tomatoes, and yellow marrows turn the market place into a pageant of color these late August days. Let them play a feature role in our menus. Stuffed with a good bread dressing, they will become the central attraction of a vegetable platter.

Using the seeds of the young squash in the dressing is suggested by some cooks. Chop seeds and loose pulp, and combine with soft stale bread crumbs and plenty of seasonings. Stuff the hollow cups of the vegetables and bake.

Stuffing is ideal for tomatoes. It absorbs the extra moisture and prevents them from breaking up during baking.

SECURITY VITAL TO MARRIAGE

Dear Miss Dix: Would it be advisable for a man of 29, who has no dependable source of income, to dismiss all thoughts of marriage from his mind? I wish to take a college course and by the time I get through I will be 34. Is that too late to marry?

A. B. C.
Answer: Marriage is like anything else, the chances of making it a success are better if you wait until you can adequately finance it. That doesn't mean that you have to be rich, but it does mean that you should have a good enough income to relieve you of the strain of wondering what would happen to your wife and children if you lost your job. We have to have a certain amount of security, even for a young man.

So I advise you to wait until you have the price of a wedding ring before you get married. If there is any ideal age for a man to marry, I should say it is when he is around 34, for he is then still young enough to be ardent, yet old enough to know his own mind and have his taste settled. He is mature and is more likely to pick out the type of girl for a wife, who would suit him than he was when he was younger, or will do when he is older. The men who marry at that age seldom weary of their wives, or join the ranks of philandering husbands. Also, a man at that age is ready to settle down and be a fireside companion.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Will you please answer the following questions for a club of 16-year-old girls? (1) What is it about a girl that attracts boys to her? (2) If a boy likes a girl, will he find means of getting acquainted with her? (3) How can a girl attract a boy and make him like her?

FIVE GIRLS.
Answer: (1) The chief thing that boys like about girls is their just being girls, and the more girly they are the better they like them. That is why girls make a mistake when they wear slacks and try to dress and talk like men. Undoubtedly there is an instinctive bond of attraction between certain individuals, but no man knows why he falls in love with the particular woman he does, and no woman can tell why she is sure that a certain man is just the one she wants.

(2) Certainly any boy who likes a girl will find some way of getting acquainted with her, and if he fails for her, he will tell her so. No man is too shy to ask for what he wants.

(3) A girl can make herself attractive by dressing in good taste. She can add to her attractions by learning how to play a good game of bridge, golf and tennis, and by especially by being a fine dancer. The girl who can play the piano and sing has a headliner attraction. But good nature and a jolly disposition are the greatest attractions of all.

Dear Miss Dix: I have been divorced from my husband for three years and would like to know how to get him back, as he hasn't remarried. I was a spoiled girl who had never been taught to be practical, so I made his life miserable with quarreling and by my extravagance. He tried to teach me to be thrifty and to live within our income, but I was wasteful and self-indulgent and cheated on him.

When he found out he was furious and so was I, and I rushed out and got a divorce. But I have had my lesson and I could get him back I would work and slave for him, instead of trying to make him just a meal ticket. Do you think there is any way of getting him back and giving me another trial?

SOPHIE.
Answer: Perhaps you can blow

Winners in Flag Design Contest

First Prize.

Second Prize

Third Prize

LAC. J. J. Smart, Sask., has been named winner of the contest held for R.C.A.F. personnel at Pat Bay for a design for the proposed Canadian flag. The competition was decided upon in view of the government's decision to ask for suggestions for a distinct Canadian flag. Majority of the airmen agreed that Canada should have her own flag to symbolize the rapid progress she had made to the status of a middle power and to express the tremendous growth and development in the sense of Canadian nationality.

All felt strongly the need of selecting a suitable flag or symbol of national unity that would ensure the whole-hearted support of all Canadians.

Second place design was made by Cpl. E. L. Kidd, Bedford, P.Q. Third place winner was Flt-Lt. W. C. Slack, Brockville, Ont.

LAC. Smart's design features the Union Jack in the upper right corner surrounded by a maple leaf, with a beaver surrounded by nine stars in the lower left hand corner of the flag.

Cpl. Kidd's suggestion consisted of the Union Jack in the upper left hand corner, the maple leaf in the lower left hand corner on a background of U.S. stripes.

Flt-Lt. Slack made a design with the Union Jack in the upper right corner, beside which were three fleur-de-lis and below both of them in the centre of the lower half of the flag three maple leaves were intertwined.

J. E. Brownlee, former premier of Alberta, who has been spending a holiday with his wife at the Empress Hotel, left the city today on his return to Calgary.

LOCAL FASTBALL affairs took a new turn this week with representatives of nine teams requesting a special general meeting of the Lower Island Association. The group has had its worries in recent weeks following the wholesale resignation of members of the Fastball Umpires' Association. The last named charged league officials with dictatorial methods and refused to work under existing conditions. With the clubs set to enter playoffs in various divisions the league executive was faced with lining up its own umpires to work the important games. To date sufficient umpires have been available. Now the teams have entered the picture by seeking a special league session.

TALKING to president Wally Yeamans and secretary Ed Whyte they both agreed a special meeting was the only way in which the present situation could be cleared up. The meeting will be held tonight with team managers, representatives of the umpires and league officials present. Outcome of the meeting is impossible to forecast. It is an established fact that a good number of teams are in support of the umpires' association and feel that body should be in complete control of its own members. No doubt both the league officials and umpires can offer up an argument in favor of their respective cases but the important thing is to reach a settlement agreeable to all. Present arguing back and forth is not good for the sport.

PRESENT warm weather is making it difficult for Coach Bill Bishop of Victoria's American football team to make his players think of the gridiron. Yet the team is scheduled to open its season next month and the boys should be out getting into condition. Several practices have already been held but Bishop tells me a lot of the lads who should be out training have yet to make their first appearance.

WITH FINE young athletes such as Len Scott joining the ranks it looks like the Victoria squad is in for a great season. Scott in recent seasons has proven one of the finest performers in the six-man league and the intercity American-code squad. On the other hand, the local club will lose a fine quarterback in the departure of Freddy French who will leave to attend Vancouver College. A new brother act is expected to bolster this year's squad with the addition of Fred and John Mooney to the ranks.

Baseball Hits Jackpot

Detroit Draws Million

The good old days are back in baseball with Detroit counting its first 1,000,000 paid admissions. Bobby Feller about to shed his navy blue for a Cleveland baseball suit and another knock-down, drag-out finale looming in the American League.

The league-leading Tigers beat Brooklyn to the punch by announcing their attendance had hit the jackpot at 1,020,492 yesterday, but brother Branch Rickey in Flatbush will be sounding the same tidings during the weekend and New York Giants also have a chance to do the trick.

Feller's return to civilian life is expected to take place today with rapid Robert slated to take the hill Friday night against Tigers in his first pro start since 1921.

Washington continues to amaze the fans with a complete reversal of last year's form. Buddy Lewis hitting .345, bashed a single, double and triple in yesterday's 11 to 8 slugfest over Cleveland as the Senators pulled to within a full game of the front-running Tigers.

Bobo Newjohn did his best to help out Washington, essaying the iron man stunt against his old Detroit mates, but was rapped out of the box in both ends of the double bill. Joe Berry came in to save the opener for Philadelphia, 7 to 6, in 11 innings. But he couldn't repeat when called again in the ninth of the second tilt after Newsom faded with the score tied and two men on base. Rudy York shot a single through short to break it up, 7 to 6, giving reliever George Caster his third successive win since joining the leaders.

TWO FOR YANKS.

New York Yankees trounced Chicago White Sox twice, 3 to 0, behind Red Ruffing, and 6 to 2 on a five-hitter by Al Gettel with the help of Charley Keller's first homer.

St. Louis missed a chance to gain ground on the leaders by splitting two with Boston Red Sox. Nelson Potter gave the Browns the opener, 2 to 1, although they collected only four blows off Otis Clark, but Randy Hefflin beat them, 4 to 3, in a finale cut to five innings by rain.

St. Louis Cardinals continued to chew away at Chicago's shrinking National lead. Charley (The Red) Barrett trimmed his former Boston mates for the second time in earning his 16th triumph, 8 to 4, for Cardinals.

Cubs had to be content with an even break in their final series at the Polo Grounds when New York Giants rallied for two in the ninth to top Claude Pascau, 4 to 3, on a squeeze play.

Brooklyn dropped to within a half game of the fourth place Giants, bowing to Pittsburgh, 12 to 1, and Phillies ran their longest win streak of the season to five in a night game 6 to 3 conquest of Cincinnati.

Nelson to Play In Spokane Meet

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Aryon Nelson, top money winner among professional golfers of the nation, will compete in the Spokane, Athletic Round Table's Esmeralda golf tournament here Sept. 20-21-22. Fred Corcoran, tournament manager of the professional golf association, advised the organization today.

Corcoran said others planning to enter the lists here include Siammin' Sammy Snead and Harold (Jug) McSpaden.

Fastball Playoffs

Sheet Metal Score Win

Pacific Sheet Metal fastballers moved into a one-game lead in the final for the city senior B men's championship by scoring a 5 to 3 victory over Brentwood Aces in the opening game of the best-of-three final last night.

Clubs meet in the second battle Thursday evening at Athletic Park, starting at 6.30.

Feature of the P.S.M. victory was the home run hitting of Batle and Hastings, which accounted for four of the five runs. After the metal workers had moved into a 1 to 0 lead in the second frame, the Aces came back with a pair of runs in the third. In the top half of the sixth Battle hit a four-bagger with two men aboard to give P.S.M. the lead. In the ninth

Seattle Wins to Move 3 1/2 Games Out of Top Place

Seattle, the liveliest corps de ballet ever consigned to a baseball grave, was within three and a half games today of the pace-setting Portland Beavers in the Coast League.

The Rainiers continued their upward drive last night by defeating the Oakland A's 10 to 8 while the Beavers were dropping a 5 to 4 decision to the Los Angeles Angels. It was the fourth loss in the last five starts for Portland, which is beginning to show signs of rigor mortis after leading the circuit since the first week of the season.

San Francisco tightened its hold on fourth place by beating the Sacramento Solons 14 to 4 to pull four and a half games ahead of the fifth-spot Oaks. San Diego's Padres completed the night's schedule by trouncing the hapless Hollywood Stars, 7 to 2.

Seattle was forced to stave off an eight-run Oakland rally in the last two frames to cop its opener. The A's drove young Alex Palica from the mound in the eighth with a five-run outburst and added three more in the ninth off reliever Keith Frazier, ex-Seal first baseman. The Rainiers had their big inning in the fifth when they scored five runs, four of them coming on Ted Norbert's 15th homer of the year. Palica got credit for the win Johnny Babich was charged with the defeat.

BEAVERS OUTPLAYED

Portland was definitely outplayed in losing 5 to 4 to the seventh-birth Angels, who got 10 hits off two opposition pitchers and were errorless afield. The Seraphs got all their runs off southpaw Wandel Mossor, scoring three in the second on doubles by Rip Russell and Mickey Kreitner, and singles by Ray Viers and Reggie Otero. They counted twice more in the third on Kreitner's second two-bagger. The Beavers pushed over two in the third and two more in the fifth, but got only one man on base in the last four innings. Charles (Red) Adams was the winning tosser.

It looks as if a dozen or more will visit the starting gate. These include Canadian invaders—Cum Laude, bred in British Columbia; Mouse Hole, Sad Story, all stout horses in prime condition; the Mexican handicap horse Naidu, and the home guard, consisting of Sir Jeffrey, nationally famous, Hard Twist, last year's winner; Silver Treason, the gray warby; Super Valley, Washington Derby winner; Gold Bolt, from California; Prince Ernest, a stout Washington bred and Lavengro, former winner and others.

The field of starters may be drawn from the following:

Sir Jeffrey 111
Gold Bolt 110
Silver Treason 109
Super Valley 108
Prince Ernest 107
Hard Twist 106
Lavengro 105
Naidu 104

These 16 horses are still very much in the fight.

Sad Story worked a mile Sunday with Koyk up in 1.40 1/5. This put him into the battle as a real danger.

Lavengro's race to Palmera T. Sunday, under rating tactics, was so improved he is entitled to start.

Naidu, Mexican horse, on the grounds, gained favor when observers noted that he ran a smashing second to Koraway in Vancouver before shipped to Longacres.

Breezy Cox, the Arizona cowboy, brought a changed Hard Twist into action under the rousing rider Roberto Diaz, and this one is apt to be accompanied by three-year-old Jessie's Beau, a speed horse.

SPEED TO BURN

There's speed in abundance. In such a large field there promises to be a slashing fight to set the pace. Sad Story and Sir Jeffrey and Cum Laude have shown they can step with the best. In class Sad Story must gain attention. He won races in New York, San Francisco and Hollywood against good horses.

The Longacres Mile is the richest mile race for all-aged horses on the continent. The record stands at 1.35 3/5.

Y.M.C.A. So-Eds will go on a hike to Thetis Lake, Sunday, assembling at the "Y" Building at 1 in the afternoon.

Longacres Mile Sunday

Open Race Forecast

SEATTLE—In its 10th renewal the $20,000 Longacres Mile supplies the northwest with a first rate sporting attraction Sunday. This year the purse was doubled by President Joseph Gottstein. Despite the shipping ban a flock of crack contestants assembled for the struggle and race results of stakes and handicaps to date make it an open battle.

It looks as if a dozen or more will visit the starting gate. Graziano-Cochrane Draw Record Gate

NEW YORK (AP)—

The return Rocky Graziano-Fred Cochrane nontitle bout at Madison Square Garden, Friday night, may pull the biggest 1945 gross of any bout—in the country to date.

At the rate the duets are being gobbled up, promoter Mike Jacobs anticipates a house of more than $100,000. The present 1945 high mark is the $101,918 for the March 23 show, when Tami Mauriello outpointed Lee Oma. Outside of New York, the 1945 high gross is the $94,120 for the Sugar Robinson-George Costner scrap in Chicago, Feb. 14.

The sock fans apparently have made Graziano one of their favorites. He is a rough, unschooled scrapper, who makes up for his lack of polish with a wicked punch. He has scored three straight knockouts over Billy Arnold, Bummy Davis and Cilly, and plans to make it four kayos in a row. Rocky stretched Cochrane in the 10th round of their first meeting.

HAEGG WINNER

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Gunder Haegg captured the 1,500-meter run, featured event of an international track meet, between Sweden and Finland Tuesday. The crack Swedish racer was timed in 3:51.8, far behind his world record of 3.43.

Frank Paulding, president; Walter Walker and Denis Hagar will represent Victoria Kiwanis Club at a meeting to be held Thursday in Vancouver for the purpose of selecting district officers for 1946.

Wrestlers Show Sat.

Rasslers will be back at the Royal Victoria Theatre Saturday night with promoter Jim Downing having lined up another first-class card.

Several new faces will show this week with the veteran Ed (Strangler) Lewis scheduled to step into the ring to match holds with that Hollywood bad man, Ted Christy. Despite his years Lewis is still one of the toughest men in the business. Strong and cagey, the headlock expert can make the going rough for any opponent.

In another bout Downing has matched the popular Chief Little Wolf with Lord Albert Mills of London. The latter will be making his first appearance here and, despite his monochrome, can still show a lot of wrestling tricks.

For his third bout Downing is attempting to arrange a rematch between Chief Thunderbird and Dazzler Clark. Thunderbird wants a finish match two out of three falls with the rounds eliminated. This pair put on a real battle last Saturday with Thunderbird dropping the odd fall in three, after losing a lot of blood when cut above the eye.

First bout will start at 8.30.

St. Louis Browns Have New Owner

Richard C. Muckerman, left, St. Louis businessman, is shown with Don L. Barnes, from whom he purchased controlling stock in the St. Louis Browns. Muckerman announced that after he became owner of the American League ball team, the club will have to pay its own way at the gate or move to another city.

Sage's Counter Gives Jokers Lacrosse Win

In a wide open box lacrosse game that was a thriller from start to finish, league-leading Jokers eked out a narrow win over Owl Drug Tuesday night 19 to 18. Jokers being without portly Heatherington in the nets and Owls had only nine players, the game featured everything in lacrosse. Leading the entire game, the Owls looked like winners all the way, but Douglas for the Jokers with a scoring effort of eight large tallies literally pulled the Jokers through by their shoestrings. Vic Sage was the hero by scoring the winning goal. Picking up a loose ball in front of the nets he snapped it behind goalie Aitken just three seconds from time.

For the Owls Denoni, Shubrook and Rickie were really standouts. These three boys gathered in 11 goals and their back-checking was a revelation. Jokers drew first blood when Douglas took a pass from Uttke to beat Aitken. Scot tied it up and from there on Owls were in the lead. At the quarter mark they were on top 5 to 3. Starting the second count Owls ran in three goals before the Jokers replied. The teams then settled down to some serious checking and as a result drew even and the score was 9 to 9 at half time.

SECOND HALF

Early in the third quarter it was demonstrated how costly a penalty can be. Uttke was sent off for two minutes and while doing time in the sin bin Owls ran in three quick goals. They outscored Jokers 7 to 2 in this period and the score read 16 to 12 at the end of the third quarter.

Starting the final session coach Woolsey cracked the whip and the Jokers took heed. They completely reversed the scoring by notching seven counters while Owls scored only two. The crowd was kept at the height of excitement in the last few minutes. When Uttke tied the score they almost raised the roof. With three seconds to go Sage became the fair-haired boy.

In the opener Murdies beat Jokers 4 to 10. Ellis was high man for the winners, scoring four goals while Scot did likewise for the losers. The game was fast.

Teams and scorers follow:

Jokers — Bryant, Ovcik, Druce 1, Harding, Brown 1, Sage 3, Douglas 8, Walker, Ludbrook, Kamie, Uttke 1, Taylor 1, Sergeant 1, Straith 3.
Owl Drug — Aitken, Long 1, Mason 1, McKeachie 1, Denoni 3, Ritchie 5, Scott 2, Shubrook 3, Robbins 2.

Memory Island Park To Commemorate Airmen of District

Hon. E. T. Kenney, Minister of Lands, announced today that
"Memory Island," in Shawnigan
Lake had been purchased by Mr.
and Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, and Mr.
and Mrs. C. R. Scharff, 1245 Hewlett Place, and presented to the government for a park in memory of their sons.
The provincial government has made the island a class A provincial park for public enjoyment, the minister said, and it will be known as Memory Park.
Both families lost a son on active service with the R.C.A.F.
and the island was purchased as a memorial to their sons and to the other airmen of this district who lost their lives.
During their boyhood, it was a favorite playground of F.O. Alan Mayhew, who crashed off Ceylon in 1944, and F.O. W. K. Scharff, who was lost last year during the Battle of Normandy.

Certificates for Wiremen Sought

Victoria Electrical Contractors and members of the Electrical Workers' Union asked City Council today by letter, to consider a proposal that a system of efficiency certificates for construction wiremen in the Greater Victoria area and a licensing system for electrical contractors be introduced.
Efficiency certificates would ensure that unauthorized and incompetent persons would be restricted from doing any electrical wiring and the licensing for contractors would ensure that only bona fide contractors, able to meet their obligations and guarantee their work, would operate business in this area. F. J.
Bevis, business manager of the union wrote.
The union would arrange a meeting of representatives from all Greater Victoria civic bodies,
the Electrical Contractors' Association and officers of the local union to discuss the matter if City Council considered that the proposals had merit. Mr. Bevis continued.
"Members of this local union,
as well as several Victoria contractors, have long recognized the necessity for ensuring proper protection of the general public against poor electric wiring installations, as regards both the materials used and the quality of workmanship," he said.
"Due to the large areas to be covered and the small inspection staff employed, it is extremely difficult, if not impossible for inspectors to be sure that all wiring jobs are executed in a workmanlike manner and proper materials used.
"We need hardly point out that either poor workmanship or poor materials can result in serious trouble, if not actual hazard to the occupant of any building;
wiring is in most cases concealed from view and therefore generally overlooked as a potential fire hazard."

Father Took Child; Judgment Pending

Magistrate H. C. Hall today set out until Aug. 29 for judgment
the case of Albert J. Jackson, charged with breaking and entering with intent to seize his two-year-old son.
Appearing in city police court,
Jackson said he had pushed open
the front door of the house, which he testified was already partly open, and despite opposition from an occupant of the house, had gone upstairs and brought the child down to the street, and had then taken it home and to town. He claimed he had no intention of removing the child until he met with opposition in the house. He said he believed he had the right to retrieve the child.
Joseph McKenna, prosecuting,
submitted that testimony previously had been given that Jackson had turned the handle and opened the door. He contended that custody of the child belonged to the mother, and that the father had no right to take it away.
A. J. Helmcken defended Jackson.

Transit Lines Continue Battle for Bus Route

Public Utilities Commission hearings of applications by the B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd. and Blue Line Transit Co. for permission to operate a proposed bus service in the Fairfield-Gonzales area are continued today with Maj. G. W. C. Bissett, 550 Foul Bay Road, called to give evidence by the Blue Line.
Maj. Bissett said he had made representation to the city council against the proposed B.C.E.R.
route along portions of Foul Bay Road. He repeated his representations before the commission, saying a number of corners along Foul Bay were blind and he considered it dangerous for a shuttling bus service.
In answer to a question by E.
N. Horsey, B.C.E.R. superintendent, Maj. Bissett agreed he did not know if similar conditions existed along the proposed Blue Line route.
H. L. Sangster, Blue Line managing director, was recalled to the witness stand and cross-examined by J. Rycraft, inter-venient, who asked why there were two fares on the Blue Line routes. Mr. Sangster answered the company tried to maintain a five-cent fare as close to the three-mile limit as possible.
R. D. Harvey, K.C., counsel for the Blue Line, brought in further evidence over Tuesday's in-regard to applications which went into the city council, but once again ran into opposition on the part of Commissioner L. W. Patmore who said he thought it irrelevant. It was a new application being dealt with by the commission to see which company would give the better service, he said.
In 1938, Mr. Harvey asked Mr.
Sangster "were you at that time
in a position to operate a service in the Fairfield-Gonzales area or the city?"
"Yes," answered Mr. Sangster,
"we offered a whole transit system to Victoria and Esquimalt."
With regard to transfer privileges, Mr. Sangster replied to R.
Manzer's suggestion the B.C.E.R.
had wider coverage, that the Blue Line could make a similar statement if it were given the Fairfield-Gonzales area.
He felt with shipbuilding decreasing, the Blue Line would be covering a district where far more people would be traveling in future.
There was considerable argument over the question of a referendum held in 1938, asking the whole of the public if they were in favor of the street-car system or inauguration of a new form of transportation.
"And the majority of the people chose to have the streetcar service continued," asked Mr.
Manzer.
"Yes," answered Mr. Sangster,
"but not by the required 66 2/3 per cent required on a referendum."

5 Teachers, Doctor Return to Schools

Five men and a woman on the staff of the Victoria schools at the time of their enlistment in the services will return to their positions when school opens September 4, H. L. Campbell, municipal inspector of schools,
announced today.
They are: C. L. Campbell, vice-principal of Victoria High; W. L.
Hardy, Victoria High; Miss B. C.
Sutton, Victoria High; D. G. Macdonald, Central Junior High; G.
C. D'Arcy, technical department and Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson, medical health officer.
Of 15 staff members whose jobs have been kept open for them, three are already returned to their positions.
Six members still not out of the services are D. E. Smith of Victoria High and the following teachers from elementary schools: D. R. McKay, Kenneth Ross, Joseph Ross, J. S. Adams and Joseph Roberts.
"Total staff of the Victoria schools is 180 with a number of part-time employees," Mr. Campbell said. "We have all our staffs lined up for the coming year."

Wants Chlorination Discontinued

A submission that there was no longer "any ground or authority for the continuance of chlorination," was made by Harry Langley, chairman of the Antichlorination League, in a letter received at the office of M. F.
Hunter, city clerk, today.
"In the name of the thousands of citizens who petitioned the government for its removal and the authority of the majority vote when the plebiscite was taken on the subject we submit that the order-in-council is now dead," Mr.
Langley wrote.

Shoe Store Signs Union Agreement

The B.C. shoe store, a contract signed by the Retail Clerks' Association with Norman L. Maynard Shoe Store of Victoria, has been approved by the Regional War Labor Board, it was learned here today.
The agreement, signed by the association affiliated with the Trades and Labor Council, calls for increased wages with an increment system, union shop laws, two weeks' holiday with pay after one year's work and check-off of union dues.
Involving four employees, the agreement was approved after two months of negotiation.

pecting his discharge soon.

Forest Situation Remains Unchanged

The possibility of a forest closure for Vancouver Island is still being considered by forest protection officials here as the weather remains unchanged.
There are no new fires reported
but a number of the major operators on the island closed down operations voluntarily several days ago, officials said.
The upper air registered a little moister today, which should be a favorable sign as it indicates that less moisture is being drawn off the forest litter, but officials are anxious not to raise any false hopes of an improved situation because of this.
The situation remains critical in the Nelson district, with 12
new fires being reported yesterday to bring the total burning there to 52.
The Sirdar-Wyndel fire is being held, the blaze having moved to within one and a half miles of Wyndel, Tuesday the Burns and Farstad Sawmill camp was burned out. It is believed that the majority of the new fires are under control.
The big Lamb Creek fire in the Cranbrook district was quiet Tuesday, as the wind, which abated Sunday night, continued quiet.
From Washington it was reported that all western Washington logging camps and industrial operations in or near wooded areas were closed Tuesday by State Forester T. S. Goodyear
until further notice. Nearly 70 new fires were reported around the state Monday.

New Tarzan Thrills In Atlas Feature

Alive with action and thrills, "Tarzan and the Amazons" revolves around the famous ape-man's adventures with a mysterious band of women warriors dwelling in a secret valley in the heart of Africa. Johnny Weissmuller again portrays Edgar Rice Burroughs' famous character, and young Johnny Sheffield repeats his role of Boy, with Brenda Joyce as Jane. A notable supporting cast includes Henry Stephenson, Maria Ouspenskaya and Barton MacLane. Kurt Neumann directed the Sol Lesser production for RKO Radio.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRE

Frances Dee, brunette whose youthful charm keeps her busy on the screen, yet whose ranch house is one of the best kept in the San Fernando Valley, has disproved the old legend that careering and housewifery don't mix.

In Universal's "Patrick the Great," Miss Dee enacts a stepmother that critics already have named "the most glamorous stepmother ever portrayed on the screen." The gay new picture is currently at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres, co-stars Donald O'Connor and Peggy Ryan.

CADET THEATRE

Bette Davis is one of 62 stars in Warner Bros. new musical, "Hollywood Canteen," now showing at the Cadet Theatre. She gets no special billing, and what is more, she wants none. Truly the "first lady of the screen," a candid portrait of her only makes one respect her all the more.

YORK THEATRE

Jack Carson has his hands full as Jane Wyman's long-suffering husband in the Warner Bros. hilarious hit, "The Doughgirls," now showing at the York Theatre. Also starred are Ann Sheridan, Alexis Smith, Eve Arden and Charlie Ruggles.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Revealing the little-known lives of today's ice-troupers, as show business terms professional skaters, Sonja Henie's new starring vehicle for International, "It's a Pleasure!" now being shown at the Capitol Theatre, presents a stirring romance as a basis for its technicolor spectacles. RKO Radio is releasing the film, which features Michael O'Shea, Marie McDonald and Bill Johnson.

DOMINION THEATRE

"The Three Caballeros," held over for three more days, Dominion Theatre represents the Disney imagination in top form resulting in a dazzling saga of merriment and excitement. The cast features Donald Duck, Joe Carioca and Panchito, a Mexican rooster. Among the real life personalities shown are the famous Latin stars, Aurora Miranda, Dora Lux and Carmen Molina.

RIO THEATRE

As a boy Kenny Baker looked forward to a career as a violinist, and took a prominent part in the activities of his high school orchestra in Los Angeles, only to discover later that he possessed a singing voice and to drop his violin studies entirely. Baker is now at the Rio Theatre in "Silver Skates," the lavish Monogram ice spectacle in which he is featured with Patricia Morrison and Bella, world's foremost feminine figure skater.

Urge 6-Hour Day

VANCOUVER (CP)—Immediate establishment of a six-hour day throughout Canada and the United States was urged by the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council (A.F.L.) at a meeting Tuesday night.

The council endorsed a resolution of Division 101, Street Railwaymen's Union, that the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and the American Federation of Labor urge on the two governments that the eight-hour day be abolished and a six-hour day be established, "with no reductions in wages."

The resolution says a time limit should be set on the demand and "both organizations should take the necessary steps to enforce it" if the time limit should be ignored.

Marine News

Ss. Greenhill Park Is Refloated by Pacific Salvage Co.

Pacific Salvage Company work crews under William Jordan of Victoria Monday night successfully refloated from North Vancouver shoals Ss. Greenhill Park, ruined by an explosion while loading at Vancouver last March. The Greenhill Park, recently reported to be sold to South American interests, was towed to the floating drydock of the Burrard Drydock Co. Ltd.

The operation took place with the aid of the high tide. The salvors had strengthened the cracked sides of the 465-foot hull, shored up the sound bulkheads and pumped the holds dry. As the tide lifted the ship's stern, the tugs pulled the vessel free of the shoal.

"Mr. Jordan performed a fine piece of work," commented Clarence Wallace, head of Burrard Drydocks.

United Air Lines Cuts Plane Fares

H. Bryan Renwick, district traffic manager for B.C. reports that United Air Lines rates between Vancouver and United States points have dropped another 4 per cent, bringing United's total basic air passenger fare reductions to 24 per cent since Pearl Harbor.

The lower fares, according to Mr. Renwick, apply between all points on United's coast-to-coast and Pacific coast system.

Along with the adoption of new tariffs, United has eliminated round-trip, circle-trip and other discounts.

Mountain Ice For Fishboats

VANCOUVER — Natural ice, clear as crystal, hard as iron, has been coming into Vancouver over Canadian National Railway to relieve the ice shortage. The mountain ice is shipped here in chunks and is crushed by National Harbors Board ice plant at Fishermen's Wharf for use of fishing boats of B.C. Packers Ltd. fleet.

Each winter the Canadian National cuts and stores some 12,000 tons of ice at Lake Lucerne, high in the Rockies, for use in dining and refrigerator cars and passenger day coaches.

B.C. Packers bought 100 tons from the railway company to help meet the seasonal shortage here. The ice has arrived in good condition, and has brought considerable relief to the ice shortage among fishing boats.

Streams Closed to Aid Spawning Fish

Because of lack of water in spawning streams Dominion fisheries department has closed salmon purse seining in Bella Bella area until further notice. Aug. 23, at midnight, the Butedale area will be closed.

Closures are intended to aid escapement of spawners. Now, says Maj. J. A. Motherwell, the fish will have only to contend with egg-eating birds, other fish, shallow streams and bears.

"With the streams so shallow it will be apple pie for the bears," he said, "especially in the Queen Charlottes."

Bears destroy numberless thousands of spawning fish each season.

War Workers' Trains Curtailed by C.N.R.

MONTREAL — With the termination of hostilities and the resultant slump in the output of war materials, special train services operated by the Canadian National Railways to various war plants for the convenience of workers are being curtailed or canceled.

Without these extra facilities, Canada's vast war production could not have been maintained at its high level for it is estimated that from the inception of

Higher Liquor Quota Approved at Meeting

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail said today in a newspaper story increased rations of hard liquor and the maintenance of distilled spirits at their present alcoholic strength will probably result from the two-day conference of liquor commissioners from eight Canadian provinces which ended here Tuesday.

The paper said it was understood that on the advice of distillers, the liquor commissioners decided it is possible to increase the rations of hard liquor to permit holders within the next 30 days.

It is expected more Canadian rye-whiskies will be available soon, as will gin and rum, the paper said.

Imported Scotch whiskies may be in short supply for several years as British distillers have a limited amount for overseas export.

The paper said it is believed an increase in alcoholic content to prewar strength is not to go into effect immediately. The federal government in 1942 decreed that all Canadian distilled liquors were to be reduced to a strength of 30 underproof. The commissioners are said to have decided to gauge public opinion before deciding the question of strength.

Representatives of Canadian distillers and wine producers as well as of the Canadian Temperance Federation appeared before the conference to present their views.

Still Hunt Absentees

OTTAWA (CP)—End of the war has brought no change in the army's policy of rounding up Home Defence troops who went absent without leave last December following passage of the order-in-council conscripting N.R. M.A. men for overseas service, a

"Every remaining A.W.L. man eventually will be found and dealt with by a court-martial," he said.

I Thin Slice France's Weekly Meat Ration

OTTAWA (CP) — To a Canadian preparing to submit to meat rationing within two weeks, a representative of France Tuesday made known the fact that "the meat shortage in Paris and most of the other cities of France is more severe than at any time since the beginning of the war."

At the same time, in Washington, it was indicated that more meat will be available for ration points and that meat rationing itself may not last much longer.

Michel Dumont, director of French information, said the ration in Paris was the equivalent of one thin slice of boiled ham each week—and "that is not always available."

WAR VETERANS' CORNER

SWINDLERS ARE WAITING

There are as many racketeers waiting to take the ex-servicemen's money in Victoria as there are elsewhere, Norman Foster of the Chamber of Commerce said today.

"If veterans will only come to us, or to the Citizens' Rehabilitation Council, we will do all we can to put them on the right track," he said. "Before ex-servicemen invest money in anything, they should get our advice." A panel of 32 leading Victoria businessmen has been set up to give sound counsel to veterans launching businesses of their own, so that jewelers-to-be can get the advice of a successful jeweler or would-be mill operator can be warned of pitfalls by a successful mill operator, and so forth. These businessmen can be met through the Citizens' Rehabilitation Council, without cost. The Chamber of Commerce already has brought some petty swindling of servicemen's relatives to an end and is constantly ready to take action against racketeers preying on veterans if information can be obtained. "But people don't like to admit they've been taken in," Mr. Foster said, "and if we are to catch the racketeers we must know who and where they are."

SHOULD TELL UNIVERSITIES

Service or ex-service personnel contemplating university training should signify such intention immediately or they may find that the universities lack accommodation for them.

Veterans' Minister Mackenzie says potential students still in the services should write to the university of their choice indicating the course they desire and the approximate date of entry. Special entry dates are being arranged in certain courses and this information will be of great assistance to the universities in planning these dates and arranging the necessary facilities.

Urge Rum Profits Used for Victims

TORONTO (CP)—Suggestion that provincial governments use liquor sales profits to maintain institutions for alcoholics and for temperance education was included in a brief made public Tuesday by Canadian Temperance Federation following its submission to provincial liquor commissioners, meeting in camera here.

The brief said while on the surface liquor-selling provides large revenues for the government concerned, drunkenness, crime, broken homes, juvenile delinquency, divorce and venereal disease have increased with liquor consumption.

NOT NEEDED THERE

WINNIPEG (CP)—Commenting on the Canadian Temperance Federation's proposal that liquor sales profits be used to maintain institutions for alcoholics and for temperance education, Provincial Attorney-General J. O. McLaughlin said here today that he was unaware of any need for such institutions in Manitoba.

"Not that a little more temperance education would be out of order," he remarked, "but on the whole I think we're pretty well behaved here in Manitoba."

Jobs for 25,000

VANCOUVER (CP)—William MacGillivray, director of the Dominion-Provincial farm labor service, said Tuesday, agriculture will provide employment for at least 25,000 former war workers and ex-servicemen in British Columbia.

Japanese Envoys Go To Rangoon to Complete Surrender

LONDON (CP)—Dispatches from Rangoon today said Japanese envoys from Saigon were expected to meet Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's representatives at Rangoon within 24 hours to arrange for the surrender of Japanese forces in the Southeast Asia theatre.

The dispatches indicated the Japanese southern army commander, Gen. Count Juchi Teruchi, had finally received official orders from Emperor Hirohito to cease hostilities.

Previously the Japanese radio at Saigon had said Teruchi still was awaiting word from the emperor.

This broadcast, heard in London at 2.20 a.m. (6.20 p.m. Tuesday, P.D.T.), apparently was an indirect reply to Admiral Mountbatten's directive calling on the Japanese southern commander to confirm that fighting would cease today.

Japanese Imperial headquarters earlier had set today as the deadline for cessation of hostilities in southeast Asia, reporting that an imperial envoy had left Tokyo Aug. 16 for Saigon with surrender orders.

A new Delhi broadcast recorded here today by the Associated Press, said a Japanese Imperial messenger also had arrived in Singapore with surrender orders for the commander there.

The formal surrender probably will take place in Singapore early in September. There will be no ceremony when the occupation forces move into Singapore, but the Allied commander is expected to meet the Japanese leader aboard a British war vessel.

Brig. Wyman Retires From Canadian Army

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence headquarters announced Tuesday night the retirement from the active army of Brig. Robert Andrew Wyman, 41, of Edmonton, who commanded armored formations in Italy and Normandy.

Brig. Wyman, who was invalided to Canada after being severely wounded near Falaise during the Normandy campaign, was a statistician with Canadian National Railways in civil life.

From February, 1942, until February, 1944, he commanded the 1st army tank brigade, serving throughout the Sicilian campaign, and for five months of the Italian campaign.

He then was posted to headquarters, 1st Canadian Army, and in April, 1944, was appointed commander, headquarters, 2nd Canadian Armored Brigade.

To Speed Released Prisoners to Canada

CANBERRA (CP)—Col. L. M. Cosgrave, military attaché of the Canadian High Commissioner's office here, left today for Manila to head a Canadian military party charged with locating and repatriating Canadian prisoners of war in Japanese-held territory.

He will be assisted by officers and men from Australia as well as Canada. The commissioner's office said Canadian relief supplies already are en route to the Far East.

Visits Canadian Troops

LONDON (CP)—W. A. McAdam, agent-general for British Columbia in the United Kingdom, returned to London today from an eight-day visit to the continent, during which he visited British Columbia regiments of the Canadian army. He saw all such units in what he described as "an extremely interesting tour" of the Canadian-occupied sector of northwest Europe.

The DOCTOR Says:

SISTER KENNY METHOD USES PACKS AND MUSCLE TRAINING

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.
Treatment of infantile paralysis has been widely adopted in this country. Contrary to popular belief, the treatment is hot packs and muscle re-education, and not hot packs and massage. The scientific controversy is not concerned with the method of treatment, but rather with ideas about the nature of the disease and the results of the various methods of treatment.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has assisted over 1,000 physicians, nurses and physical therapy technicians to learn the method first hand at the University of Minnesota during the past few years, and has contributed substantial sums of money to several universities to study the nature of the disease.

In infantile-paralysis irregular movements result when the patient attempts to use the affected muscles. Purpose of muscle re-education is to strengthen each muscle as much as possible and to teach proper muscle use. Many observers believe that with this method there is less deformity and less inability to get around and do things afterward.

When paralysis develops, patients are probably best cared for in a hospital where special treatments can be given. They receive regular medical and nursing care in addition to their special treatments. A special bed is prepared by removing the springs and replacing them with boards. A firm mattress is covered with blankets instead of sheets.

The room is kept quiet and free from drafts. The patient is handled as little as possible, since touching and moving may aggravate pain and spasm. Nothing cold is allowed to touch the skin. In the beginning, any position which is comfortable is recommended. Later the body is straightened out if possible.

Pieces of woolen cloth are wrung very dry after soaking in boiling water and applied directly to the skin over the entire body. If the wool is dry, no burn results. An oil-silk covering and dry clothes are placed on the outside to conserve heat. Packs are changed as often as every 15 minutes in the beginning, and later at longer intervals. Apparently the alternate heating and cooling has a greater beneficial effect than the continuous application of heat.

As soon as possible, the patient is urged to try to use his muscles in the proper way. This may not result in movement, but later on certain of the affected muscles return to usefulness. The patient is assisted in these movements by the physical therapy technician.

Flier Lost 30 lbs.

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A grim game of hide and seek in Holland between P.O. Donald Rutherford of Strathroy, Ont., and several Germans has come to light with the disclosure of the flier's experiences after he parachuted from his crippled plane over that country.

Rutherford became friendly with one of the Dutch residents near where he came down and his new-found friend decided to hide him in his house in which several Nazi S.S. troops were billeted. For four months—until he escaped to Allied lines before V.E. Day—the young flier managed to evade the Nazis although they were practically breathing down his neck.

It was some ordeal—he lost 30 pounds.

SUZANNE LENGLEN WON HIGH TENNIS HONOR AT AGE OF FIFTEEN

Among the famous women tennis players there are two who seem to stand above all others. These are Suzanne Lenglen of France and Helen Wills Moody of the United States.

Miss Lenglen has been called "a bundle of electric wire." Full of life and "nerves," she shone on the tennis court so brightly that people hardly took notice of the skill of other women for a number of years.

had the action and footwork of the FENCING MASTER. Here she is executing a BACKHAND VOLLEY.

As a little girl Suzanne was trained with great care by her father. Small squares were marked on a tennis court, and she was trained to hit the ball so it would strike any square her father named.

When she was 15 years old she won the women's singles in a tournament at Paris.

Suzanne Lenglen was 20 years old when she went to Wimbledon, England, for the first time. There she carried away the title of world's champion in singles, and helped to win the women's doubles.

In the years which followed, she again and again came out first at Wimbledon. In 1921, after a victory there, she crossed the Atlantic and lost a match in the United States, by default to Mrs. Mallory. The next year, however, she met Mrs. Mallory at Wimbledon and defeated her in two straight sets.

Further Wimbledon victories followed, and then, in 1926, she turned professional. For two years she toured the United States and Europe, playing exhibition games. After that she gave up tennis, and opened a dress-maker's shop in Paris. She died seven years ago.

Helen Wills Moody won the Wimbledon tournaments from 1927 to 1930. She also won several national tennis championships in the United States. The last time she was national champion in women's singles was 1935.

In 1926, a 19-year-old girl played against Suzanne Lenglen in France. This girl was Helen Wills, who later was to become Mrs. Moody. The match was fast and furious. It was won in close sets by Miss Lenglen.

Miss Lenglen appeared in a tennis match in Victoria. (For GENERAL INTEREST section of your scrapbook.)

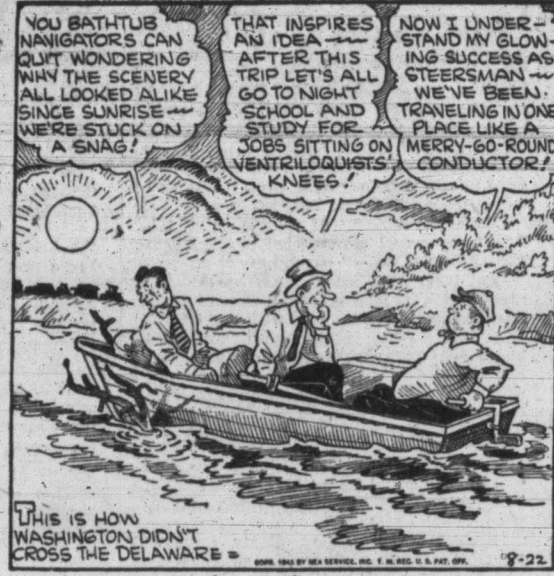

War Cabinet Ends

AUCKLAND (CP)—Prime Minister Fraser has announced the dissolution of New Zealand's war cabinet, in power since July, 1940.

Since 1940, New Zealand has had two cabinets—the war administration cabinet composed of leading government ministers and the two Nationalists, and the domestic cabinet, composed solely of government (Labor) ministers.

The announcement of war cabinet dissolution means the domestic cabinet—which has not been reshuffled—assumes control of all aspects of New Zealand's administration.
